

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A bicycle or similar vehicle having a handlebar steering mechanism can be equipped with a safe reliable support mechanism for an article-storage basket located above the front wheel. Two rigid tubular arms extend forwardly from the handlebar steering mechanism to provide permanent welded connections to an article storage basket. The high strength weld connections overcome shortcomings of clamps and strut assemblies that are conventionally used to mount an article-storage basket on a bicycle.